

MUSIC PICKS (continued . . .)

St. Vincent at the Rock and Roll Hotel

Once a member of the Polyphonic Spree and Sufjan Stevens' congregante, Annie Clark (aka St. Vincent) has branched off, creating a witty, melodramatic sound that has endeared her to the indie rock press. Is it a fad, hype? Well, there's a surefire way to find out when she comes to town. With Foreign Born. www.rockandrollhoteldc.com. $12. — Lars Garvey Laing-Peterson

FEBRUARY 27

Russian Circles, Dalek, Young Widows at the Rock and Roll Hotel

Suicide Squeeze labelmates with Minus the Bear, Russian Circles have made quite a name for themselves over the past few years. Epic tracks that oscillate from delicate and mournful to discordant and heavy, the three piece has earned a reputation for energetic, engaging live shows. With Dalek and Young Widows. www.rockandrollhoteldc.com. $10. — Lars Garvey Laing-Peterson

Junior League at IOTA Club & Cafe

Wondering what to do on your leap year night? Junior League, a local indie-rock band, will be playing IOTA. They mix country and blues influences into their sound with the help of a mandolin and harmonica, and the result is fantastic. $10. www.iotaclubandcafe.com. — Dana Steinberg

KINKY at the 930 Club

One of the funkier ensembles in Latin music today, electronica and Alternative rockers Kinky are best known for their hit single "Mas"—which has been used in commercials, video games, TV series and movies—with its hypnotic deep bass guitar strums, stirring synthesizer beat and chant of "Mas y mas!" ("More and more!"). They'll also be playing tracks from their latest album, the Latin Grammy nominated—"Reina"—named after the Quinceñera parties of their native Mexico. www.930.com. $25. — Alfredo Flores
