

egomaniac and his backing band on their 20th Anniversary Tour. Has it really been that long since "Rhinoceros" first hit the modern rock airwaves? Here's hoping Corgan won't subject the diehards to anything from "Blinking With Fists." Show at 8 p.m. Tickets are $58.50. — Hilary Crowe

WED., NOV. 12

Rose Hill Drive at DC9

In 2007, Rose Hill Drive rocked out the Verizon Center while opening for The Who. Needless to say, this intimate show will be a must-see. 9 p.m. show. $12. — Robert Fulton

THUR., NOV. 13

M83, School of Seven Bells at the Black Cat

French shoegazers M83 peddle the spaced out sound of their fuzzed-out forebears like My Bloody Valentine and Brian Eno. In fact, they take their name from a galaxy. The French bunch are sure to be matched by indie-psych-rock openers School of Seven Bells, a Brooklyn trio formed by ex-Secret Machiner Benjamin Curtis last year. Doors at 8 p.m. Tickets are $17. — Hilary Crowe

FRI., NOV. 14

Fort Knox Five "Radio Free D.C." Release Party with See-I, Ursula 1000, and Will Eastman at the 9:30 Club

All that DJ foursome Fort Knox Five (yes, it's a foursome) want you to do is "Funk 4 Peace" — a simple message from the lead single off of their latest album, "Radio Free D.C." The project features several trumpet-filled old school funk party jams with artists with local ties, such as "Insight" featuring Asheru of Unspoken Heard, plus other odes to the band's hometown's rich musical heritage of soul, punk and hip hop. FKF also delves deep into the D.C. Jamaican Underground in collaborations with Rootz and Zeebo from Eighteenth Street Lounge staples See-I — an eight reggae jam band that mixes in drum n bass, house, Brazilian beats, and down tempo music. Late show with 10 p.m. doors. $15. — Alfredo Flores
